

Anything for Money

In the bustling city of New York, a gifted young woman finds herself in dire financial straits. When a charming man enters her life, offering lavish gifts and financial security, she embraces the luxury at first. However, as his generosity turns into suffocating control, she must navigate the fine line between necessity and toxicity, realizing that the cost of his gifts may be her freedom.